

BDPA-New York Celebrates Black History Month by Presenting Black Family Technology Awareness Week (BFTAW)

Sponsored by National Grid
Saturday, February 13, 2010
9:00am – 3:00pm

Free Events/Workshops will include:

Netsmartz Workshop - "Internet Safety for Our Youth"

This workshop is to extend the safety awareness of children to prevent victimization and increase self-confidence whenever they go online, enhance the ability of children to recognize dangers on the Internet and increase communication between adults and children about online safety.

Panel Discussion - "Cost Effective Solutions for Business Owners"

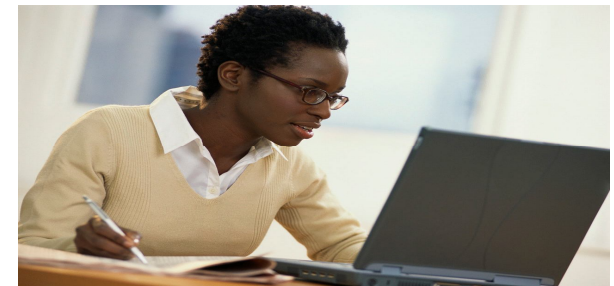

The discussion will allow Business Owners the opportunity to share with sponsors and community how they use technology to build and support their businesses. It also allows the community and local businesses to learn the role technology can play in their business growth.

Youth Technology Conference

This event will allow NYC youth the opportunity to display technology initiatives to sponsors and the community. BDPA-NY SITES students will showcase their research papers by presenting and demonstrating their research. The Eagle Foundation will do a Robotics presentation.

National Grid Products and Services Presentation

For up-to-date info visit www.bdpa-ny.org/bftaw.htm. To RSVP or for more info e-mail bftaw@bdpa-ny.org or leave a message on the BDPA Voicemail at 212-802-5341.

National Grid
One Metro Tech Center
Brooklyn, NY 11201

Subway: R to Lawrence St (closest stop), A, C, or F to Jay St - Borough Hall, 2 or 3 to Hoyt St.

Bus: B26, B57, B62, B67, or B75

Refreshments Served.

www.bdpa-ny.org